

FAMILY LAW ADVOCACY TRAINING

• COMMENCEMENT OF THE CASE • DISCOVERY • TRIAL • APPEAL

The LACBA Family Law Section presents the fourth of a 16-part bi-weekly program series entitled Family Law Advocacy Training (FLAT). Each program will provide practical training to family law practitioners, statewide, who seek to enhance their skills. The purpose of the FLAT programs is to teach family law attorneys how to effectively and professionally practice family law.

Now that your case is at issue, what is the proper method of seeking interim relief? Do you file an ex parte application or RFO? What constitutes proper notice for either request? What forms are required? When is an opposition due? Should you file evidentiary objections? Will a live evidentiary hearing be necessary? If so, what additional procedures are required? What are best practices to ensure your request is presented in the most persuasive way possible? Hear what our panel of experts has to say about these and other issues.
